

Arthfree

Arthfree capsules effectively target the joint-inflammation that comes with rheumatoid arthritis. Arthfree contains the active ingredient Leflunomide, a chemical substance which is considered the latest breakthrough in the medical treatment of rheumatoid arthritis. Arthfree decreases joint inflammation, reduces the patient's pain and increases the patient's ability to perform his daily routines.

Administration

Arthfree is available on doctor's prescription only. When your doctor prescribes Arthfree, he will probably prescribe the following dosage: one capsule of 100 mg daily.
